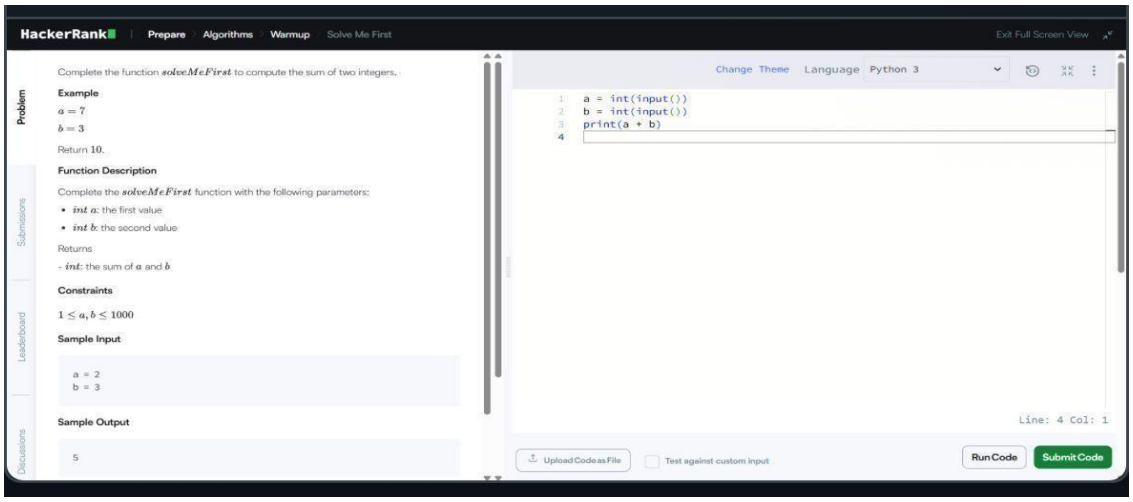
HACKERRANK



- Creating a Google Form helped me understand how online surveys are designed and used for data collection. I learned how to create different types of questions such as multiple choice, checkboxes, and descriptive responses.

I also learned how to:

- Customize themes and layout
- Share the form using a link
- View responses automatically collected in charts

This activity showed me how digital tools help in research, feedback collection and decision making.

- Creating a Hackerrank account introduced me to online coding practice platforms. I solved beginner programming problems which improved my logical thinking and problemsolving skills.

I learned how to:

- Practice coding online
- Submit solutions
- Track progress and scores
- Build a coding profile
